NOTES TO SECOND REVISED EDITION

The Honour Roll plaques are affixed to the front wall of the City Hall on Church Street in downtown St. Catharines.

Photos and Transcription of names on plaques by William John Stevens.

It should be understood that the information in this publication was compiled from various sources and can not always be assumed to be correct and despite consulting many sources, some information was not found.

Contributions of additional information, photographs or corrections are greatly appreciated by William John Stevens, e-mail: bibmstev@computan.on.ca

The availability to access military files since the first edition in October 2006 has resulted in several revisions to the first edition including removal of some entries and addition of others, along with additional information on each soldier.

The two bronze plaques were unveiled at the Remembrance Day ceremony on Monday, November 11, 1940 by then Mayor Charles “Tod” Daley.

World War One lasted from July 28, 1914 until November 11, 1918.
